

How to Find Your Student's Sun-Moon Profiles

Step 1 – Sun/Moon Keyword List

Familiarize yourself with what the Sun and Mon signify using the keyword list.

Step 2 - Birthdate

Start with the first birthdate you are looking up. If you are doing your whole class, it helps to export the birthdates all at once into a separate excel spreadsheet, or just create a separate birthday chart in whatever fashion you like.

Step 3 – Sun Sign

Find the Sun Sign of the person based on the date range for the sun signs. Read the associated descriptions for that sign.

 Remember that the Sun represents the will to exist, or that which someone wants to become.*

Proceed to step 4 to lookup the Moon sign

Step 4 – Moon Sign

Next, you will need to look up the Moon sign which can be in any of 12 zodiac signs independently of the sun sign. Use the Café Astrology Link and select “I don’t know my birth time.”

Step 6

Use the Moon Sign Reference Page descriptions for each Moon sign.

Once you have looked up the person’s sun sign and their moon sign by their birthday, you then have their complete Sun/Moon Profile. You are done!

The last step is what you do with this information and that is up to you. You might make notes of the keywords in that sun/moon profile in your birthday list in separate columns, or spreadsheet or handwritten chart. It can be helpful to notice contradictory tendencies between Sun and Moon within the same person. When the Moon sign is opposite the sun sign, sometimes it indicates difficulties between the two parents at home or inner conflict. If there is a preponderance of one element this can indicate some one-sidedness or imbalances to be worked with.

 Remember that the moon represents the nurturing/emotional, or what one already is.*
